As an Educational Psychologist, I work with kindergarten, primary and secondary students up to year 12 with learning, emotional, social or behavioural difficulties. Students may work with me on a one-to-one basis or within small groups. Moreover, I also support and advice students, teachers and parents. Additionally, I undertake individual psychological assessments to identify barriers in students' learning and ways/strategies to address their difficulties.

Weekly drop-in sessions for pupils

Drop-in sessions are available for all students. Students can meet me if they feel the need to talk about something that might be worrying them, if they feel unhappy or having trouble in class/at school or at home. Students can find me in my office in Douglas House or write me in Microsoft Teams (chat).
