Sascha Höhne, qualified social education worker

Sascha.Hoehne@dslondon.org.uk

As school social worker my job is generally to promote social learning. I offer support for pupils of all ages to accompany their personal development and enhance their social skills. My responsibilities include providing individual and confidential counselling for pupils in all year groups as well as for teachers and parents. I support individual pupils in their class context and work with small groups on matters such as conflict management and topics relating specifically to boys.

I support the Ganzttag team and am the contact person in cases of bullying. I introduce appropriate measures and offer assistance where necessary. I also carry out prevention programmes in different year groups.

Consultation by appointment.
